Prof. Christopher Krupa Publishes New Book

Prof. Krupa's new co-edited (with David Nugent of Emory University) volume, *State Theory and Andean Politics: New Approaches to the Study of Rule*, has just been published by The University of Pennsylvania Press. Focusing on the everyday, extraofficial, and frequently invisible or partially concealed permutations of rule in the lives of Andean people, the essays in this collection explore the material and cultural processes by which states come to appear as real and tangible parts of everyday life. Includes contributions from ten Andeanist scholars and theoretical engagements from Akhil Gupta and Gyanendra Pandey. Further details at <http://www.upenn.edu/pennpress/book/15370.html>

AGSU Spring Wine & Cheese April 7

Hello Anthropology Colleagues,

Now that this semester is finally coming to a close it is our pleasure to invite you to the AGSU Spring Wine and Cheese taking place Tuesday April 7th, from 4-7pm at the Prenup Pub. The Prenup Pub is located at 191 College, at the corner of Henry about 2 blocks from the Department and we will be on the second floor. They have 70 beers on tap, over 20 wines available by the glass and tasty appetizers. As well, we are inviting everyone to feel free to bring a sweet treat for all to share.

So join us...this is a great opportunity to unwind from a challenging semester and a busy school year by having some food and drinks (2 free) on the AGSU and The Department of Anthropology. No dress code. We hope to see you there!

Please note that there is construction taking place at College and Spadina during this time which may affect your transportation route to or from the event. Details are available on the TTC website at: https://www.ttc.ca/Service\_Advisories/Construction/SpadinaAve-CollegeSt.jsp

Prof. Shawn Lehman Awarded FAS Germany/Europe Funding

Congratulations to Prof. Shawn Lehman for his successful application to the Faculty of Arts and Science Germany/Europe Fund to formalize a research collaboration with lemur biologists at the Institut für Zoologie, Stiftung Tierärztliche Hochschule in Hannover, Germany. The collaboration will provide international experience and innovative programming to Anthropology graduate students.

PhD Student Monika Sumra Co-Publishes Paper with Prof. Michael Schillaci

Congratulations to Anthropology PhD student Monika Sumra for publishing her first paper in PLoS ONE. "Stress and the Multiple-Role Woman: Taking a Closer Look at the 'Superwoman'" was co-written by Monika and her supervisor, Prof. Michael Schillaci. ### 2015 AAA Leadership Fellows Program

The AAA Leadership Fellows Program provides a unique opportunity for anthropologists early in their careers to learn about leadership opportunities within the association. Each year a group of three to five fellows will be paired with a mentor chosen from among AAA leadership. Mentors are available to fellows throughout the year to answer questions related to AAA. Fellows shadow their mentors at the AAA Annual Meeting in meetings of the Executive Board, Association Committees, and Section Committees. In addition, fellows are invited to attend the AAA Donors Reception and a Leadership Fellows Social bringing together past and present cohorts of fellows. Applications must be submitted by April 6.

Awards & Funding Opportunities

The Sophie Coe Prize in Food History 2015

The Sophie Coe Prize is the longest-running and most generous prize for writing in food history in the English language, awarding £1,500 to the winning essay, article or book chapter every year. It focuses on great writing about new research and/or new insights into the study of the history of food.

Detail from 'Chez Simon Le Pharisien' by Albrecht-Jesus Bouts, 1473-1549 (Royal Museums of Fine Arts of Belgium, Brussels)

In 2015, our 20th anniversary year, the winner will be chosen – as usual - by an anonymous panel of distinguished judges and awarded to the author of an original, informative article or essay on any aspect of food history. Published and unpublished work may be submitted. If the former, it must have been published within the last 12 months of the submission deadline. If the latter, it must be in immediately publishable form. The submission deadline is 1st May 2015. For full details, including conditions of entry, previous winners, and to sign up for reminders and updates on the Prize, please consult our website at <http://sophiecoep prize.wordpress.com>.

2015 Anthony Leeds Prize in Urban Anthropology

The Leeds Prize is awarded each year by the Society for Urban/National/Transnational/Global Anthropology (SUNTA) for the outstanding book in urban, national and/or transnational anthropology published in 2014. The prize is named in honor of the late Anthony Leeds, a distinguished pioneer in urban anthropology. The prize is awarded to a book that uses ethnographic data from complex, transnational, urban societies in methodological innovative ways. The goal of the prize is to showcase model studies that advance the research agenda of urban anthropologists. The prize committee is chaired by Robert Rotenberg and includes Danny Hoffman, winner of the 2012 prize for "The War Machines (Duke University Press), Daniel Goldstein, winner of the 2013 prize for "Outlawed" (Duke University Press) and Mun Young Cho, winner of the 2014 prize for "The Specter of "The People": Urban Poverty in Northeast China" (Cornell University Press). This year's deadline for submission is June 10, 2015. Further info here.

AAA/Oxford University Press Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching of Anthropology

Celebrate your favorite anthropology teacher by nominating her or him for the 2015 AAA/Oxford Teaching Award! Take advantage of the extended deadline to honor an anthropology educator who had an impact on you in the field of anthropology. The deadline for this award is May 1, 2015. Electronic submissions are encouraged, but we also accept USPS submissions. Please see details about the submission process on our site: <http://www.aaanet.org/about/Prizes-Awards/AAA-Oxford-Teaching-Award.cfm>

Society for Cultural Anthropology Graduate Student Horizons Prize

For more than 25 years, the Society for Cultural Anthropology has been distinguished by having the largest graduate student membership of any section of the American Anthropological Association. Recognizing that doctoral students are among the most experimentally minded and often among the best read of ethnographic writers, the SCA wants to know: Who is on your reading horizon? This spirit gave rise to the Cultural Horizons Prize, awarded yearly by a jury of doctoral students, for the best article appearing in Cultural Anthropology during the preceding year. The 2014 Horizons Prize was awarded to Kevin Lewis O'Neill (U of T) for his article, "Left Behind: Security, Salvation, and the Subject of Prevention" Cultural Anthropology 28, no. 2 (November 2013): 204-26.

The SCA is soliciting doctoral graduate students to serve as volunteers on the prize jury. The work involves reading through the 2014 volume of Cultural Anthropology over the summer, and delivering a collective decision by early August. Each member of the jury will receive a modest honorarium to help defray costs of attending the 2015 AAA meetings, in order to present the award to the recipient.

For the selection of the jury, we aim to cover the widest range of interests consonant with SCA membership, as well as SCA's spirit that prioritizes interdisciplinarity, ethnography, theoretical innovation, and literariness. To apply, please send:

- A paragraph-length statement of research interests and qualifications;
- A current curriculum vitae;
- A short (one paragraph) note of recommendation from a dissertation committee member.

Applications may be sent to: Ana Maria Ochoa at ao2110@columbia.edu. Please use "Honors Prize Committee" in the subject heading when submitting your application. The application deadline is April 15, 2015.

2015 Ruth Benedict Book Prize

The Association for Queer Anthropology (AQA) is proud to announce the 2015 Ruth Benedict Book Prize Competition for outstanding anthropological scholarship on a lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, or queer topic. The Ruth Benedict Book Prize is presented each year at the AAA's annual meeting to acknowledge excellence in a scholarly book written from an anthropological perspective about a topic that engages issues and theoretical perspectives relevant to LGBTQ studies. The Prize is awarded in each of two separate categories, one for a single-authored monograph and another for an edited volume.

To nominate a work, please submit one copy of the book or edited volume to each of the four committee members, with the author or editor's name, mailing address, and email address, and telephone number printed clearly on a separate cover letter indicating that it is a submission for the Ruth Benedict Book Prize. All submissions must be received by Monday, June 15, 2014. Further info at <http://casca-news.blogspot.ca/2015/03/2015-ruth-benedict-book-prize.html>

Upcoming Conferences & Workshops

Water and Power in Past Societies, 8th Visiting Scholars Conferences of the Institute for European and Mediterranean Archaeology, April 11-12, 2015, SUNY Buffalo

Water and Power in Past Societies seeks to bring together theoretically-situated, data-rich studies of how water as a resource relates to the formation, maintenance, destruction, or prevention of social inequalities at both intra- and inter-group scales. In assessing how water is used as a resource, the temporality of water's behaviors over the span of the study period should be explicitly addressed, whether these behaviors result in slow change, sudden change, continuity, or some combination of the three. Further info and registration at <http://iemba.buffalo.edu/conference/>

Engaging Boredom, April 26, 2015, Queen's University

A symposium for the practice and theory of resisting, embracing, and understanding boredom. Featuring Academic Keynote address by Prof. Michael E. Gardiner (University of Western Ontario) and Community Keynote address by Nathan Townend (Green Party candidate.) Further info at <https://engagingboredom.wordpress.com/>

Moving beyond Interviews: Using Creative Methods in Qualitative Health Research, May 8, 2015, U of T

CQ Workshop with Profs. Paula Gardner (Brock U.) and Denise Gastaldo (U of T). Participation in this workshop requires prior knowledge of the theoretical underpinnings of qualitative inquiry. It would be beneficial for participants to have some experience utilizing interviews or focus groups. Participants should have an interest in integrating creative methods into their research.. Further info at <http://www.ccqhr.utoronto.ca/workshop-moving-beyond-interviews-using-creative-methods-qualitative-health-research>

African Heritage Challenges: Development and Sustainability Conference, May 15-16, 2015, University of Cambridge

The African Heritage Challenges conference is the 16th Annual Heritage Seminar at the University of Cambridge. The conference explores the ways in which heritage can promote, secure or undermine sustainable development in Africa, and in turn, how this development affects conceptions of heritage in Africa. As the countries of Africa attempt to forge burgeoning economies and societies in the twenty-first century, cultural heritage has a role to play as the nexus where the past and the future meet. To register and view the programme, please follow this link: <http://www.crassh.cam.ac.uk/events/25667>

Students Ethnographic Film Festival, May 22-23, 2015, University of Zadar

Student Ethnographic Film (SEF) Festival is organized by the students of Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology at the University of Zadar in cooperation with the association ANTROPOP and KSEA, with the aim of popularizing ethnographic film and deepening the knowledge of this area. We believe that the rich program which combines lectures by experts, discussions, workshops, presentation of student ethnographic films and discussions with the authors of films, create an inspiring, stimulating and, above all, a pleasant atmosphere for socializing and sharing the ideas, knowledge and skills. The festival will end with the proclamation of the winning films chosen by the audience and jury, and the winners will be awarded with the diploma and a symbolic reward. The application deadline is April 14th 2015. For more information visit <http://antropop.wix.com/seffestival>

Show & Tell: Articulating your Methods to Reveal the Quality of your Research, June 8-9, 2015, Spain

The Centre for Critical Qualitative Health Research (known as "CQ") from the University of Toronto will offer a two-day international workshop (June 8-9, Palma de Mallorca) for researchers in the field of health who are consolidating their QR skills, PhD students, and postdoctoral fellows. Further info at <http://www.ccqhr.utoronto.ca/sites/default/files/Flyer-Show-and-Tell-2015-WEB.pdf>

Community Social Pediatrics Symposium, September 16-18, 2015, Montreal Science Centre

The Fondation du Dr Julien invites students, researchers and Health, Social Services and Law professionals wishing to contribute to the improvement of care and services offered to children from disadvantaged backgrounds to participate to its 4th Community Social Pediatrics Symposium. Early bird registration fee until June 30, 2015. Further details at <http://symposium.fondationdrjulien.org/en/about/about-2015.aspx>

Transforming the Landscape of Transgender Health and Wellness: Supporting Community Growth and Cultivating Clinical Practice, October 1-4, 2015, Halifax

This Canadian Professional Association for Transgender Health (CPATH) biennial Conference combines a three-day national conference with a day of pre-conference training workshops. The event is an ideal opportunity for community members and professionals from various fields to come together to network and share knowledge about trans health. Stay tuned for more details, including a call for abstracts, and check back at <http://www.cpath.ca/conferences/> regularly.

Field & Summer Schools

UMass Amherst Historical Archaeology Field School at Emily Dickinson House Museum, May 19-June 13, 2015

Anthro 577, planned by University of Massachusetts Archaeological Services and the Emily Dickinson Museum, is offered by the Department of Anthropology through UMass Continuing and Professional Education. Learn fundamentals of field and lab research plus historical interpretation by excavating, processing artifacts, and giving site tours. Details at http://www.umass.edu/anthro/fieldschool\_files/maininfo.html

Collaborative Arctic Summer School in Epidemiology (CASE), August 3-7, 2015, Yellowknife

This summer school will focus on environmental stressors in the High North and the challenges involved in studying human health effects of such external factors.

The main goal is to prepare young scientists for particular challenges related to conducting science in the High North. Other goals are to create an arena where these young scientists may interact with senior scientists who are experienced in High North issues, in addition to building networks with other international students that have similar challenges. Throughout the week, senior scientists will be available to supervise on specific requests the students might have. The main topics of the course will be human health related to environmental impacts, lifestyle choices, food security, climate change and practical statistical methods.

Where: Blachford lake lodge, Yellowknife, Canada
The summer school itself is free of charge, except there might be a personal contribution linked to travel. Please contact your countries representative for booking and details. And hurry, participation is restricted and registration closes May 1st. ### Honeybee-Culture in Gozo and Malta, Off the Beaten Track Field School Workshop

The aim of the workshop is to gain and exchange experiences in anthropological and interdisciplinary research on topics concerning beekeeping.

Goals

- Develop a research topic in cooperation with the other participants of the workshop
- Enhance your participant observation skills through ethnographic fieldwork.
- Find access to your field and collect and align your primary data.
- Explore the potential of interdisciplinary methods and different ways of representation.
- Contribute to an anthropological publication on Honeybee-culture in Gozo and Malta.

Jean Monnet PhD Summer School on Security and Justice in Europe, June 8-14, 2015,

Lifelong Learning Programme

University of Dundee

The Jean Monnet Summer School is organised with the support of the Lifelong Learning Programme (LLP) of the European Union.

It offers an intensive, interactive and interdisciplinary approach to the study of the complex issues of security and justice in Europe, including amongst others the Area of Freedom, Security and Justice (AFSJ) (formerly 'Justice and Home Affairs') and the Common Foreign and Security Policy (CFSP), as well as the impact of these policies on fundamental rights and liberties. It examines the latest empirical developments and theoretical approaches, in addition to featuring research methods and general doctoral training sessions.

In addition, all participants will present their research project and will receive constructive feedback on it. They will also be encouraged to contribute to the two main publications related to the Summer School on the basis of their research project.

The Summer School is intended for students of any discipline writing or planning to write a PhD thesis on any topic related to justice and security in Europe, including amongst others any aspect of the European Union's Area of Freedom, Security and Justice (AFSJ) and the Common Foreign and Security Policy (CFSP). ### Experimental Archaeology & Beer Production, July 29-August 19, 2015, Cyprus

HARP will be running an Experimental Archaeology Field School in the village of Kissonerga, Cyprus that aims to recreate an installation that was likely used for beer production in the Middle Bronze Age. The original structure has been excavated as part of a research excavation run by Dr. Lindy Crewe of the University of Manchester since 2007. The site of Kissonerga-Skalia is a Middle Bronze Age settlement that has revealed a series of domestic dwellings that were superseded by a phase of monumental construction. The village of Kissonerga is incredibly rich in archaeological sites with some of the world's oldest Neolithic wells at Kissonerga-Mylouthkia, the Chalcolithic settlement of Kissonerga-Mosphillia, as well as the settlement of Skalia.

The aims of the Field School are to build a fourth installation using slightly different construction techniques than in previous seasons, and to produce beer using methods likely dating back to the Bronze Age. The 2015 kiln will be used to dry malted grains before the grains are crushed using traditional techniques. The crushed malt will then be used to make beer using locally sourced ingredients and traditional brewing techniques. Participants will also get the opportunity to excavate the remains of the 2013 and 2014 kiln in order to learn excavation skills and test our excavation hypotheses for the kiln.
