Antropofest Call for Films

Antropofest is a film festival that focuses mainly on anthropological issues and stands for an open display of anthropological films. Anyone who has made or cooperated on a film which deals with anthropological or ethnological issues and would like to share it with the public is invited to submit the film for screening at the Antropofest, which will take place in Prague on 29th January – 30th January 2016.

Films can be sent to:

Antropofest
P.O. BOX 56
253 01, Hostivice
Czech Republic, Europe.

Deadline is 17th November 2015 (If this date is not convenient to you, please let us know in advance.) For more information about the programme, application form as well as for terms and conditions of participation go to our website: www.antropofest.cz. If you have any further questions, feel free to share them with us via email info@antropofest.cz, or call Štěpánka Proučilová, +420 606 170 922.

Introducing the Ethnography Lab Students' Association (ELSA)

The Ethnography Lab now has a section dedicated specifically to undergraduate students looking to get more involved in ethnography and related activities. Drop in to room 332 in the Department of Anthropology at U of T (19 Russell Street, Toronto) or contact ethnography.lab@utoronto.ca for more info on how to get involved. See also <http://ethnographylab.ca/ethnography-lab-students-association-elsa/>

A New Multispecies Website: Multispecies.net

We're delighted to announce the launch of multispecies.net: a collaborative website about multispecies ethnography and anthropology. We hope the site will provide a forum for creative thinking, critical commentary, and debate about relationships between humans and all other forms of life; animals, insects, plants, fungi, and microbes. We welcome submissions which consider how humans shape, and are shaped by, relationships with other species, and which attend to the agency, subjectivity, and interests of life beyond human species bounds.

If you have any suggestions for the site, or would like to contribute in any way, you can email us at: admin@multispecies.net. You can also follow us on Twitter and Facebook for regular updates.

Recent Publications

Prehistoric Culture Change on Southern Vancouver Island by PhD Alumn Terrence Clark

Terrence Clark (PhD, U of T, 2009) has published his research findings on the transition from Locarno Beach to Marpole archaeological culture type within the Gulf of Georgia region of the Northwest Coast of North America. Prehistoric Culture Change on Southern Vancouver Island: The Applicability of Current Explanations of the Marpole Transition published this year by British Archaeological Reports demonstrates that Southern Vancouver Island may exhibit a different culture history than the Fraser River. Terence is currently a Faculty Member at the Canadian Museum of History.

PhD Alum Matthew Walls Publishes Papers in American Antiquity and Quaternary International

Matthew Walls (PhD, U of T, 2013) has recently published two papers. “Inughuit Open Water Hunting before the Nineteenth Century: New Dates and Questions from Washington Land, Northwest Greenland” is a co-authored article appearing in American Antiquity 80(3): 602-609 that re-examines the archaeological discovery of Morris Bay Kayak in 1921. It can be read on Matthew's academia.edu page here. “Making as a Didactic Process: Situated Cognition and the Chaîne Opératoire” was published earlier this year by Quaternary International (doi:10.1016/j.quaint.2015.03.005). This paper explores the implications of Material Engagement Theory for how archaeologists construe technical activity through ethnoarchaeological observations of Inuit kayak making in West Greenland. Matthew is currently a postdoctoral fellow at the Institute of Archaeology, University of Oxford.

Field Schools & Volunteer Opportunities

Sansiera Archaeology Institute for International Field Schools

We are happy to introduce our field schools for 2016!! It's an exceptional year for our organization because we have reduced the price of our courses drastically thanks to a grant that will encourage our Institute to dig. You can participate from $750 during 18 days! What are you waiting for?

OFFER: If you sign up for two sessions in a row (36 days) that take place in Menorca, the days between sessions (3 or 4 days) you will have the accommodation for free. View the course quick guide here. Check out the Sansiera Overview video here. Or get further info on our website at <http://archaeology.institute/>

Adelphi in Alaska Archaeology Field School

The Adelphi University, Department of Anthropology welcomes applications from students interested in archaeology or related disciplines to join our 2016 summer field school in Alaska. Research will focus on the newly discovered Holzman site along Shaw Creek where large mammal bones, mammoth ivory fragments, and stone tools have been found dating back to the end of the last Ice Age. Join our research team in the scenic Tanana Valley as we investigate the question, who were the First Alaskans?

Taught by experienced faculty with student-instructor ratios among the lowest available (3:1), this program emphasizes a wide range of experiential learning opportunities. For more information about the Adelphi in Alaska Archaeological Field School, please visit our website.

Introduction to Field Archaeology, Cyprus, April 3-16, 2016

HARP (Heritage and Archaeological Research Practice) is running a field school in Cyprus in April 2016 providing two weeks of training in archaeological recording practices including technical drawing, surveying, building recording, finds processing & recording, as well as an introduction to experimental archaeology and bioarchaeology. There will also be a number of visits to local archaeological sites dating from the Neolithic through to the Roman period. Further info at <http://www.harpaceology.co.uk/field-schools/introduction-to-archaeology-cyprus>

Escape the Cold this Winter with GoEco Student Volunteer Opportunities

Don't feel like spending your winter break shoveling snow? Then don't! GoEco can arrange a volunteer placement almost anywhere in the world! You can escape the cold and gain valuable experience in your field with a wildlife, humanitarian or environmental project abroad. To help get you started, we've selected 10 rewarding projects that we know you'll love! What are you waiting for?

DANTA Tropical Biology Field Courses 2016

Danta is pleased to announce our 2016 winter session field courses in tropical biology. Our courses are intended for undergrads or early graduate level students who have a keen interest in tropical ecosystems and conservation, but have little or no experience of working in a tropical environment. Participants may enroll on either a credit or non-credit basis. DANTA operates on a cooperative and collaborative teaching model with multiple international instructors on each course. Co-instruction allows for more individualized instruction, and the sharing and appreciation of different ideas.

For more information, please visit our website at www.DANTA.info and/or email conservation@danta.info. You can find us on Facebook and Twitter. For an alumni perspective on our programs, please see our new blog DANTAisms <http://dantablog.wordpress.com/>.

Volunteer Opportunities at the Society for the Study of Egyptian Antiquities Symposium

We are once again offering opportunities for responsible students to volunteer during our Symposium weekend, in return for free entry to the event (non-member student entry is $50 for Saturday). Our Topic this year is Egypt's Threatened Treasures: Plunder and Restoration, Past and Present

There are several events during the weekend for which we need volunteers. All events will take place at 5 Bancroft Ave. It has always been our policy that the students who help out with this would get complimentary entry to the Symposium with a minimum 4 hour commitment to help. This can be on any date during that weekend at any time. We particularly need help with cleanup, take-down and moving chairs and tables at the beginning and end of the weekend. If interested please contact info@thessea.org or sseainfo@gmail.com, subject line: "Volunteering, attention: Hanna West"
