Napoli™: A Project by Salvatore Giusto

Third year PhD Anthropology student Salvatore Giusto is about to co-author and co-produce Napoli™ an experimental and ironic mockumentary which will illustrate the ethnographic research on power, cultural aesthetics and mass-media in Neoliberal Italy. Salvatore has been conducting in Naples since September 2013. Being an integral part of Salvatore's experience of participant observation, Napoli™ will mix together elements of pop comedy and classic documentary in order to aesthetically mirror the cultural landscape it will aim to represent and to promote new forms of anthropological divulgation. Napoli™ will be co-produced by MAD Entertainment srl (a leading Italian house of cinematographic production) and partially funded by an online crowdfunding campaign. It is planned to be premiered in Italian cinemas during the winter of 2015. For a preview of Napoli™'s official teaser-trailer (with English subtitles), see <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wJYmq7IJqq4>

U of T Anthropology BA Alumnus Eric Weissman Wins 2014 Distinguished Dissertation Award

Congratulations to Eric Weissman, who has received the 2014 Distinguished Dissertation Award from the Canadian Association of Graduate Studies for his PhD work on homelessness. The award recognizes Weissman's 13-year multimedia project comparing government housing with shanty towns and tent cities established by homeless people in Toronto and the U.S. After a long personal battle with substance abuse and homelessness, Weissman is now a Professor of Sociology at the College of New Caledonia in Prince George, BC. Arts & Science Highlights Prof. Ed Swenson's Research

The Faculty of Arts & Science recently highlighted Prof. Ed Swenson's research on ritual and sacrifice at Huaca Colorada, a pre-Inca pyramid in Northern Peru. The article, Life, death and meaning in the Jequetepeque Valley of northern Peru, was written by Barrett Hooper and can be read online at <http://www.artsci.utoronto.ca/main/newsitems/life-death-meaning>

U of T Earth Sciences Paleoenvironment Reading Group

We are starting a paleoenvironment reading group in the Earth Sciences department that may be of interest to some Anthropology/Archaeology people. This reading group would ideally cover a very broad range of topics relating to paleoenvironment/paleoclimate/paleoecology/paleontology/paleogeography/archaeology etc., and will not focus on any particular region or time period. We're sending this out to the Anthro department in the hopes of getting people working on or interested in many different aspects of paleoenvironmental studies involved.

We would probably meet between once a month and every 2 weeks, likely on a Wednesday or Thursday afternoon. We'd like to have the first meeting fairly soon. Please email Anna Phillips at anna.phillips@mail.utoronto.ca if you are interested in being included on an email list about this group, and if Wednesday or Thursday afternoons work for you.

Awards & Funding Opportunities

Halbert Exchange Program – Network Research Fellowship for Faculty

The Munk School of Global Affairs invites proposals for the 2015-16 Halbert Network Fellowship. Halbert Network awards support the creation and early maintenance of collaborative research networks involving both faculty and graduate students, and require a three-year commitment, renewable each year.

The Fellowship provides a maximum of $45,000, evenly divided over the three years. In the first year, funds are provided for University of Toronto scholars to visit Israel in order to create collaborative relationships with colleagues at the Hebrew University, Jerusalem. In the second year, funds are provided to pursue collaborative research, and in the third, funds are to be used for a conference or the equivalent to facilitate public presentation and publication of team results. Faculty from the social sciences, humanities, education and law are welcome to apply.

The application process proceeds in two stages: Stage I applications should be sent via e-mail to halbert.munk@utoronto.ca no later than Thursday, December 4, 2014. The Halbert Review Committee will evaluate applications, and by mid-December, invite successful applicants to submit a Stage II application. Stage II applications are due Monday, January 12, 2015. The Committee will notify applicants of their decision by mid-February 2015. For complete information and application forms, please visit: <http://sites.utoronto.ca/halbert/HalbertNetwork.shtml>

Should you have any questions, please contact Halbert Exchange Program Coordinator, Sarah Namer at halbert.munk@utoronto.ca or 416-946-8450

Senior Women Academic Administrators of Canada – Graduate Student Award of Merit

At least three awards, each in the amount of $3000, will be awarded annually to women graduate students who have demonstrated outstanding leadership in the university or general community while maintaining exemplary academic records.

Eligibility: Women registered in Master's or PhD programs at any Member Institution of AUCC within a designated region are eligible to be nominated. Regions and number of awards are defined as follows, and eligibility shall rotate among them:

Ontario (2015) – 5 awards; Quebec [2016] - 4 awards; Western Provinces (2017) - 4 awards; Atlantic Provinces (2018) - 3 awards

Each university in the designated region may nominate, through the Dean of Graduate Studies or her/his delegate, one person for the award. The Dean shall also be responsible for the appointment of a nominating committee for the award and for providing the Selection Committee with all necessary documentation in support of the nomination. All applications are due to Sandra Yiu in the Faculty of Graduate Studies (fgssac@yorku.ca) by Friday January 9, 2015. For more information and application instructions please see <http://www.swaac.ca/graduate-student-award-of-merit.html>

University of Toronto's President Teaching Award Nominations

The University-wide President's Teaching Award recognizes sustained excellence in teaching and significant contributions in educational leadership. We encourage nominations of colleagues whose achievements are truly outstanding for this very recognition by the University of Toronto. President's Teaching Award winners receive an annual professional development allowance of $10,000 for five years. Recipients are also designated by the University as members of the Teaching Academy for a minimum period of five years; those wishing to continue participation in the Academy after this term may elect to do so. A complete list of Academy members can be found here.

The President's Teaching Award winners are determined by a selection committee chaired by the Provost. Nominations are solicited through the Deans of Faculties. The office of the Dean is responsible for the compilation of documentation but they may request assistance from the Centre for Teaching Support & Innovation. When preparing a nomination package, nominators should consult the Selection Procedures & Nomination Guidelines. [Please note: the guidelines have been updated.] The nomination deadline is 13 February 2015.

Enquiries regarding the President's Teaching Award and nomination procedures should be directed to Pam Gravestock at 416-946-8585 (t) or p.gravestock@utoronto.ca. Nominators may wish to attend a roundtable discussion hosted by the Centre for Teaching Support & Innovation: Preparing a Teaching Award Nomination on 13 November 2014 from 2-4pm. Register here.

Dalla Lana School of Public Health 2014-15 Student Global Health Research Travel Awards

These awards provide financial support for travel linked to independent student research addressing global health issues. The approach to global health at the DLSPH is interdisciplinary and integrative, bringing together ideas, theories, and methodologies from multiple disciplines. The school emphasizes equity-oriented research, that is, research work focusing on the health challenges of low-income and oppressed populations in all countries and the relationship of these challenges to global, national and local political, social, economic, and institutional factors.

6-10 awards have been allocated from the Office of Global Public Health Education and Training, DLSPH, to support the 2015 Global Health Student Research Travel Awards.

- $ 5,000 will be awarded to students whose independent research includes travel outside of North America.
- $ 3,000 will be awarded to students whose independent research includes travel within North America.

Funds must be expended within 12 months of the Award date.

Application deadline is December 5, 2014. For application instructions and further information, please contact the Office of Global Public Health Education and Training at 416-946-7909 or ghoffice.dlsph@utoronto.ca

International Internship/Research Opportunity for Upper Year U of T Anthropology Undergrad SCL Majors & Specialists

Prof. Tania Li is applying for the Dean's International Initiative Fund to enable 4 students to spend 2-3 months in Kerala, India, as interns at the Center for Research and Education for Social Transformation \(CREST\). CREST internships takes interns from reputed institution from India and abroad for short term assignments lasting up to four months to assist the faculty in student counseling, small group tutorials, and providing communication skills.

In discussion with CREST staff, you can devise creative and fun ways of helping students develop their communication skills and gaining confidence interacting with foreigners, eg. through movies, debates, sports events, putting on a play, work or study role playing etc. Interns will also interact with CREST students informally, by living in the student dorms at CREST or in accommodation nearby, and may have opportunities to travel with CREST students in weekends or on short breaks to explore some of the Kerala countryside. If the application is successful, the Dean's funding will be $2500 per selected student, to cover air fare and basic living costs.

The academic objective of the internship will be for U of T students to learn about the experiences of Indian university students from discriminated/disadvantaged backgrounds as they try to prepare themselves for jobs in a competitive environment. Preparation will include reading about cultural capital (Bourdieu) in general, and specifically in India; questions of class, caste, and stigma; and young peoples' aspirations for social inclusion and modernity.

To qualify for academic credit, you will write a research paper based on your experiences in Kerala, with the topic decided in collaboration with Prof. Li. You need to meet the criterion for Independent Research under ANT 497Y1Y, 498H1H/Y. The internship may also be undertaken as a co-curricular non-credit option.

To express preliminary interest in this internship, please send a message to Prof. Li at tania.li@utoronto.ca by Monday Nov 10. Further briefing, interviews and selection of candidates will follow.
